What is Free-Roam VR?

Zero Latency VR offers a state-of-art virtual reality experience- with no cables or tethers. You and your group have the freedom to walk around and explore VR together. You'll be equipped with a set of headphones to immerse yourself in the game, a microphone to plan strategies and communicate with your team and a full-size weapon to interact with the virtual world around you.

What is included in the experience?

On arrival, your friendly game master will brief your group on what to expect from your experience, and how to safely play your game. Once you're geared up in our VR equipment, you'll make your way into the game arena to start your adventure together. After your game concludes, you'll return to reality to check out who took the top score (and bragging rights) of your game.

Who can play?

Our immersive experience may not be suitable for everyone - players must be taller than 4'6 and meet the age requirement of 8 years old. The experience is not suitable for players that are pregnant, require the use of mobility assistance devices, are deaf or hearing impaired, are blind, or have a heart condition. For more information about the experience or accessibility, please contact Zero Latency Jax.

What do I wear?

Whether you're being chased by zombies or taking out robot drones, Free-Roam VR can be hard work. We recommend comfortable clothing and closed-in footwear for the experience.

Can I wear glasses?

Our VR headsets can be used in conjunction with small-framed glasses, but for the best comfort and fit, we recommend the use of contact lenses if available.

Will I get motion sick?

Every part of our Free-Roam VR system is designed to give you an immersive experience without any of the motion sickness typically associated with virtual reality.

Will I walk into a wall?

Our free-roam VR system has a ton of safety features built in that are designed to keep you where you need to be. Just make sure you follow all directions within the game and listen out for instructions from your game master!
